Lynn Giles Directs Fund Raising Project

Wave 20 Sep 1984

United Way has announced that Signetics Corporation will lead the Pacesetter Campaign for the United Way fundraising campaign.

The Signetics employee campaign is being directed by Lynn Giles, a Heber resident, who is the Division Human Resource Manager at Signetics. He will be assisted by Carl Swenson, Del Ray Hammons, Paula Morries, and LeaAnn Braithwaite.

"It benefits our employees to go beyond themselves...to help others," says Lynn Giles. "One day we may be that person being helped."

At Signetics, as with hundreds of Utah County companies, employees are being given the opportunity to donate the United Way through payroll deduction.

Signetics was chosen to be the pacesetter campaign because of the great employee support, according to Chuck O'Brien, Campaign Chairman. "Signetics and its employees are able to run a well organized campaign."

Donations received from the Signetics employees benefit thousands of individuals throughout Utah County ranging from the hearing impaired, senior citizens, and mentally and physically handicapped to funding a major health programs such as heart, multiple sclerosis and diabetes.

The purpose of conducting a pacesetter campaign is to show other companies and organizations throughout the county that if they conduct their drive using similar tested campaign techniques they too can experience successful results.
